REACH stands for Registration, Evaluation, Authorization, and Restriction of Chemicals. This test also focuses on the potential impact of restricted chemicals on human health and the environment. REACH testing addresses the production and use of chemical substances. However, REACH controls all chemicals that might be used to manufacture the product.

Wirematic Trutorq hereby declare that based on the information provided by our supply chain our actuators comply with the requirements of REACH regulations and do not contain substances defined as Highly Concern and if present are less than 0.1% of their weight.
